Business is Good, and Will Continue So

There has been very little diminution in the number of sojourners in Carmel as compared with July and August. Many of the cottages usually for rent at this time are now and will be occupied for some time.

The stores and hotels have enjoyed a particularly prosperous summer, and all indications point to a busy fall and winter.

With Age Comes Knowledge

Mrs. Packard-DeBois, editor of the Library and Civic Magazine, and Miss Russ, City Librarian, both of Pasadena, were recent Carmel visitors.

Miss Eunice T. Gray is now established at Torrence Hall, Duluth, Minn.

The Delmas family is here from San Jose, occupying the Schumacher cottage.

Last week Miss Norma Ryland of San Jose was a guest at La Maisonette, and this week the Misses Priest are entertaining Miss M. Walsh of San Jose and Miss Beatrice Weigle of Santa Monica.

Mrs. La Baree, with Mrs. Walter Bennett, who have been here for some time, have moved to the Rogers cottage.

Mrs. A. Hall and her two charming daughters, who have been here several month, returned to Palo Alto last Saturday. They'll be back before many moons.

Mrs. and Mrs. Perry Newberry have gone to San Francisco, to be away indefinitely. Politics at the Highlands will be without a leader.

Pardow Hooper was the last of the family to get away, departing Saturday morning by auto.

Rev. Rob't Freemar of Pasadena, well known here, has arrived in France, where he is engaged in Y.M.C.A. work. His family did not accompany him.

The Hoppers took a week-end trip to the city, and were away over Sunday.

Miss Nina Joy of Portland, Oregon, will be here for several months, the guest of Mrs. Walter Bennett.

The Wickhams recent guests were Miss Agnes Sweasey and Miss Dulcie Walden, who used to live here. They now reside in Berkeley.

Among the week-enders who came home to roost was H. W. Pudan. He may go East before long.

Miss M. Louise Hutchinson is home from Berkeley, where she has been visiting friends for a month or more.

All Saints Church is open daily from 10 to 5. Visitors are welcome at the rectory on Friday afternoons.

Carmel quail and rabbit hunter will have to keep their trusty shot-guns stored until November 15 this year. The season, which closes February 1, is not shortened; it is put back a month.

Mixed juries, it has been decided, shall be the rule in Monterey county. So, Mrs. Carmel Lady, don't be surprised if the Sheriff knocks at your door to inform you that you are wanted at Salinas.

Carmel Highlands had a week-end capacity crowd over Labor Day, and many reservations have been made for this week-end over Admission Day. Carmel folks always welcome.

Today is the 160th anniversary of the birth of Lafayette, America's ally in the Revolution.

What the P. I. Co. claims will be the best and most beautiful golf course in the world will probably be ready for use early in 1918. Its proximity to Carmel should keep the town crowded the year round.

The local exemption board has received the bronze buttons which the government will issue to those who have been excused from military service for good and sufficient cause.

The fine weather of last Sunday attracted the year's record crowd to Carmel's splendid white-sand beach. There were swimmers and waders by the hundreds.

The local school trustees will shortly hold a meeting to discuss the matter of calling a bond election to provide funds for enlarging the school building. Just now the class-rooms are over-crowded, and the teachers are over-worked.

During the absence of Postmaster Payne on a camping trip, Miss Helen Parkes is assisting Miss Stella Vincent in the conduct of Uncle Sam's letter and package distribution bureau.

Echoes From the Firing Line

The following letter is to an Eastern lady now sojourning in Carmel;

July 11.

Dear Mother:

I have so much to tell you that I hardly know where to begin but the beginning is the logical place.

We left the training school about the 18th, and had 36 hours leave in Paris after which we came out here somewhere on the Aisne front. We are about 6 miles from the front. There are 40 in our section and 18 cars. There are 8 sections of Americans here at present. They are coming out as fast as they are trained. Ted Baird, Henry Thompson and Paul Tison are the only ones you know out here at present. George Pratt is still in the school and will be out by the end of the week. We are all in what is known as Mallet's reserve, about 500 cars, which is supposed to follow the offensive. We expect to move soon either in Belgium or up toward Verdun.

We live here in remorques or trailers, three in a trailer, the trailers in a rectangle, table in the middle and a roof of canvas over all. It is fairly comfortable except in wet weather when the mud is terrible. Wakim, a Shiff freshman who was captain of the Exeter track team a of the fellows who came over with me, bunk with me. The food is very fair and there is no evidence of want anywhere. But the people are very, very tired, not beaten or hardly discouraged, just tired and oh, how they count on America. Sometimes I doubt whether we will make good. You don't seem to realize that you are in the war. You must wakeup and make good, because the others are played out. The French are holding them till we can come and finish the job, because that's what it is, a hard, unpleasant job which must be done and by America.

They work us pretty hard. The orders just came in to go out at 4 tomorow morning whirh means up at 2:30. Either we get up early in the morning like that and come in at 6 or 7 the next night or we go out in the afternoon and come in at 2 or 3 in the morning. The other day we got in at 2:30 and went out at 4. This was in the morning. After three days of that life I went to bed and slept 23 hours.

We have run into shell fire once or twice but nothing very much. You can hear the big ones coming and you kind of shrivel up in your helmet. You can tell the departs from the arrives with a little practice The next section got into some gas shells the other night but didn't have any trouble, thanks to the gas masks which are very good and which we always carry.

I will try to write when I can but it is very hard. However don't worry because in case of any accident you will or would be informed at once.

That fellow Osborn who was killed in the ambulance a few days ago used to live near us in Montclair. Do you remember?

WEEKLY GREETING

No nation has ever remained free which has not been worthy of freedom. Freedom, like everything else in this world, is a mental concept, and as soon as that concept degenerates into license, or as soon as ever it loses the inspiration of sacrifice, it becomes dead wood.—Christian Science Monitor.

Education Should Continue

President Wilson does wisely in urging that all colleges and technical schools maintain their courses as nearly on a normal basis as possible in spite of the war's drain on the country's youth. It is of greater importance than ever that young men who are below the selective draft age should continue their studies with diligence. The nation is in need of trained men, and the need will increase as the war goes on. The youth who is not required to wear a uniform can do his country no greater service than by fitting himself to the full measure of ability and opportunity for useful work.

Bayonets That Do Not Shine

The United States government has about decided to take all of the glisten out of a bayonet and have it made of blue steel. It is argued that just as a brilliant uniform attracts attention even at a distance, so the luster of a polished bayonet may be seen far away. If this step is taken it will be only one more blow at the panoply of war, which has become a grim business and not an affair of dash and color. Every army in the field has discarded by degrees everything that would tend to make the presence of troops known to the enemy The war is getting to be a struggle of anonymity, silence and drab gray.

If your business is in Carmel have your Printing done at the Pine Cone Press.

Our Weekly Recipe

Imitation Lobster a la Newburg

Imitation lobster a la Newburg may be made with the use of any flake fish. The materials needed are one cup of cooked fish broken into flakes, one egg yolk, one dessertspoon of cornstarch, a generous half pint of milk, a grating of nutmeg, salt and pepper to taste, a piece of butter the size of a walnut.

Put one cup of any flaked fish to heat in a double boiler. Mix the egg yolk and cornstarch until light, stir in gradually the milk; add this to the fish. Put all over a brisk fire, season with salt and pepper and nutmeg; stir and cook until the sauce is as thick as molasses. Then drop in the butter in small pieces. Serve on squares of thin, delicately browned, toast on a heated platter. Warm the plates before serving.

The Beach is Still Here

An old lady stepped into the Pine Cone office a day or two ago to learn the location of Mary Austin's Wickiup. When informed that this interesting object had been destroyed by the elements, the lady remarked, "My, Carmel is spoiled."

This calls to mind a story concerning the Iron Duke. Some few years after Waterloo, Wellington was taken to view the battlefield. It had changed. Looking round about him, he remarked, "My battlefield is ruined."

His Country Comes First

Like Percy Grainger, the Australian pianist, Ernest H. Schelling, the pianist, has responded to the call to subordinate art and revenue to work for humanity. He has announced his intention of joining the United States military forces, or taking up Red Cross work. Schelling was born in New Jersey of a German father and an American mother. His wife is an American. He studied with Mathias in Paris, Hans Huber in Basil, Moszkowski in Berlin, and with Paderewski.

Belgian Relief Work Still Goes On

Relief work is still vital in Belgium. Plans for future work are indicated in the communication here presented.

Now that the Commission for Relief in Belgium and Northern France has ceased its appeal to the public for help for the imports into Belgium, the California Committee under the Commission has been reorganized under the title of the California Committee for Relief in Belgium and France. The Government loan merely supplies the bare ration of 7 cents of food per day, and there is still relief work that California can and must do in Belgium and in the recently evacuated districts of France, where need of sympathy and help is greater than ever.

Arrangements have been made for transmitting money to Belgium through His Excellency the Baron de Cartier of the Belgian Legation, and to France through Madame Jusserand, wife of the French Ambassador, both at Washington.

California has already been working for the children in the densely crowded mining and industrial provinces of Mons and Charleroi. Fortunately we can still go on helping these districts.

We are now looking eagerly toward the little piece of Belgian territory which the British have been winning back this month, and hope that in the near future California may be able to send a few plows and other practical help to this precious strip of freed Belgium, as well as to the districts of desolated Peronne in Northern France, where the inhabitants are without home, food or clothes.

Another fund will also be opened for the hospital for the wounded Belgian soldiers in La Panne, which is under the direction of the famous Belgian surgeon, Dr. de Page, whose beautiful and attractive wife, Marie de Page, came in the early part of the war to America to seek help for her wounded. She made many warm personal friends here in California, and met with great financial success, but went down on the ill-fated Lusitania.

It is hoped that California Beds can be established in her memory for the soldiers whose sufferings she had so much at heart.

The state machinery of the new committee is identical with the old, and the office is still at 337 Mills Building, San Francisco, where much needed contributions will be gladly received for these brave and suffering people who for three years have shown a superhuman endurance.

Carmel Will Be Invaded

Next Saturday about forty of the soldierettes from Asilomar will visit here. The entertainment of the party will be in charge of the Arts and Crafts Club and the Red Cross organization.

Arrangements have been made to take the ladies to see the Mission, the various artists' studio, and other points of interest, and tea will be served at Arts and Crafts Hall.

Great Musician to Play Here

Alexander Saslavsky, concert master of the New York Symphony Orchestra, is the next famous artist to visit Carmel this season. He will appear at the Carmel Summer School of Music in a Sonata Recital with Warren D. Allen, and the program will consist of three works of supreme beauty — the "Chacone," by Vitali, and two sonatas by Cesar Franck and Grieg respectively.

Mr. Saslavsky's worth as an artist is recognized from coast to coast, and his annual series of concerts in Denver have just concluded after remarkable success.

Mr. Saslavsky is an enthusiastic exponent of ensemble music and his sonata playing is that of an artist and an authority.

Municipal Tax Rate Is Established

Carmel's first municipal tax levy has been made. At the monthly meeting of the City Trustees last Tuesday night City Assessor J. E. Nichols presented the assessment roll. According to this roll the total value of real and personal property in Carmel is $381,605. After estimating the needs of town for the current year, the tax rate was established at $1 on each $100 of assessed valuation. This tax will be due and payable October 22, and delinquent December 31.

Chairman Fraser expressed himself to the effect that the time had come to plan an execute street improvements. "There are in Carmel," said he, "fifteen miles of roadway, and not one foot is improved. Under the Vrooman Act this work can be done so that the payments therefor will not be a heavy burden to property-owners, and having done the work, property values will increase materially and at once." The board decided to work out a plan of action immediately.

Compensation insurance will be taken out for city employees.

The garbage ordinance was laid over for further consideration.

The city will purchase a cart and reel for the recently acquired fire hose.

Bills aggregating $ 218.60 were approved.

George Oliver and Ernest Schweninger have been excused from military service by the exemption board, on the ground of physical unfitness. Henry L. Hitchcock has been designated for service.

California's Birthday

The sixty-seventh anniversary of California's admission into the union of States occurs next Sunday. This year the main celebration takes place at Sacramento. On Monday the local public school will be closed, and the Postoffice will be open an hour only.

Four Score and Nine

Last Monday was Uncle Delos Goldsmith's eighty-ninth birthday as well as Labor Day. As has been the usual custom, Carmel's Grand Old Man partook of his birthday dinner at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stewart, visited his friends, and had a happy day withal. Next week he is to be dined by Mrs. E. K. deSabla.
